Control Your Environment

Shepherd Communication and Security was founded to provide security systems for your home and family. With access control systems, we give you a wide range of options for managing all entry and access points to your property. Equipment such as keypads, card reads, and perimeter alert systems, we can help you create the security you need for your home. Access control pads and intercom systems provide the first layer of defense in home security. With remote access, doors can be unlocked with a unique code right from a smartphone.

We have the experience and knowledge of the newest innovative breakthroughs in home security and we're here to share that knowledge with you. Equipment is able to be installed on all doors, gates, garages, or driveway access points to ensure that those who are able to enter your home and property are supposed to be there. To protect your valuables, property, and the things you can't replace such as your loved ones, contact Shepherd Communication and Security today to learn more about how to get started with an access control system.
